EMDR and Play Therapy

This workshop is for people who have completed at least Level I of the EMDR training.

This workshop will explore how and why combining the modalities of EMDR and Play Therapy can result in rapid and sustaining results. Linking these two highly effective modalities offers healing for children affected by trauma, decreasing maladaptive behaviors and increasing self-awareness and regulation. This combination can be used for work with children and their families to facilitate healing and attachment within the parent/child dyad.

This training will include lecture, videos and practice exercises. Participants will see multiple uses of EMDR and Play Therapy with various ages of children and families.

Learning Objectives: Participants will:

1. Learn developmentally appropriate ways to implement the 8 stages of EMDR using Play Therapy techniques.
2. Learn narrative EMDR and Play Therapy with individuals and families for trauma healing and building attachment.
3. Learn a collaborative team approach to working with children with trauma.
4. Gain knowledge of self regulation skills for parents and children using EMDR and Play Therapy.
