The History of Play Therapy

Offered by
Jane L. Johnson, LLC, LCSW,
Registered Play Therapist-Supervisor

Live Webinar
via Zoom from
Fort Collins, CO

January 24, 2026
8:30 AM - 3 PM, MST

History of Play Therapy

The history of play therapy is a part of the continuing education requirements to become a Registered Play Therapist (RPT). We will identify the origins and assess the status of today's major play therapy theories. You will be introduced to the historical contributions of professionals in the field. This workshop will ground you in play therapy theories so that you understand how they drive the play therapy approaches you use today. With the historical perspective and knowledge of current play therapy theories you can develop thoughtful and deliberate interventions with children.

Learning Objectives Participants will:

1. Compare major theorists whose work led to the development of a broad spectrum of play therapy approaches.
2. Explain the impact of medical and social science on the growth and development of play therapy.
3. Assess the variety of current play therapy theories that you can use to develop play therapy interventions.
4. Identify historically significant events that led to changes in the practice of play therapy.
5. Practice historically significant play therapy interventions that are still in use today.

Workshop Schedule:
Saturday January 24, 2026

8:15 am Online Check-in (MST)
8:30-11:45 am Morning Session
11:45am -12:45pm Lunch Break
